

THINGS TO KEEP IN MIND WHEN CREATING WEBSITES

- Keep things close together/ don't waste space
- Make sure your font is not the same "value" as the background. Dark blue font on black background is hard to read. A good choice is white font on black background.
- Don't use a busy background. Busy backgrounds distract from the text and the images.
- Don't force anyone to click more than three times to get to a desired destination. People get bored very quickly.
- Don't have too much flashing stuff. It drives people insane.
- Don't loop music. Some people need silence to think.
- Don't overwhelm people with text. A picture is worth a thousand words.
- People love interactive things, but not too much.
- Do not violate copyright laws. You can get sued for thousands of Dollars.
- Always check your site in both browsers.
- For seamless image integration, use Photoshop wand and bucket tools to make the picture background same color as your site background.
- Save everything inside one folder, otherwise your images may end up broken links.
- ALWAYS SAVE FOR WEB!
